| 7 | Going to expectations.... We were given our quotas without knowledge of equipment and parts outages. So I think it would have been appropriate to probably re-align the numbers knowing that we would be losing 20-30% of equipment sales based on inventory levels. For most of 2021 the Goodman line has had HUGE holes in it. And that is our main line to anyone "new". It makes going after "new business" very difficult.                                                                 | 7/15/2021 10:32 AM |

| 1 | We do need to make some improvements on how we train people, especially new ones. There have been some improvements in this area, but still more are needed. IDPs would also be a good step as they work at an individual level and help employees work towards their professional goals. | 7/21/2021 11:09 AM |
| 2 | IT IS A SMALL COMPANY, SO OPPORTUNITIES ARE FEW BUT THE ONES THAT ARE THERE ARE ABLE TO BE EXPLORED                                                                                                                                                                                       | 7/20/2021 9:21 AM  |
| 3 | There isn't any clear path for advances, or wage increases. Training is available, but with no clear incentive, or reward. I believe we all want our company to succeed, both as a business, and personally.                                                                              | 7/20/2021 8:52 AM  |
| 4 | there is not a clear path to training and on-boarding, this would go along way to making sure the people we are putting in place are able to do the job and if they could be upward mobile.                                                                                               | 7/18/2021 9:04 PM  |
| 5 | Would like a career plan. Would love to see rewards, recognition, plaques, certificates for achievements, employee of the month, company parties, something to motivate the workforce.                                                                                                    | 7/13/2021 8:27 PM  |
| 6 | There is no "training", just what you take on yourself with very little guidance.                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 7/13/2021 4:49 PM  |
