

2021 Employee Survey Results

Survey Summary

Scope

The purpose of this initial employee engagement survey was to gather employee feedback regarding operations, culture, benefits, and management. This information will be used to guide necessary improvements throughout the organization. The survey will be performed periodically, ideally bi-annually, to measure employee satisfaction.

Stats

Survey dates: 7/13/21 – 7/23/21

Total questions: 54

Total responses: 22

Completion rate: 95% (1 incomplete response)

Typical time spent: 16 mins

Survey

The survey consisted of multiple choice, rated, and open-ended questions. All questions required an answer with the exception of the open-ended questions. Also, the survey was divided into eight sections: Company Objectives, Management, Teams, Professional Development, Compensation & Benefits, Tools, Work/Life Balance, and Organization. This survey was open to all employees including management. One employee has left the company after the survey was conducted.

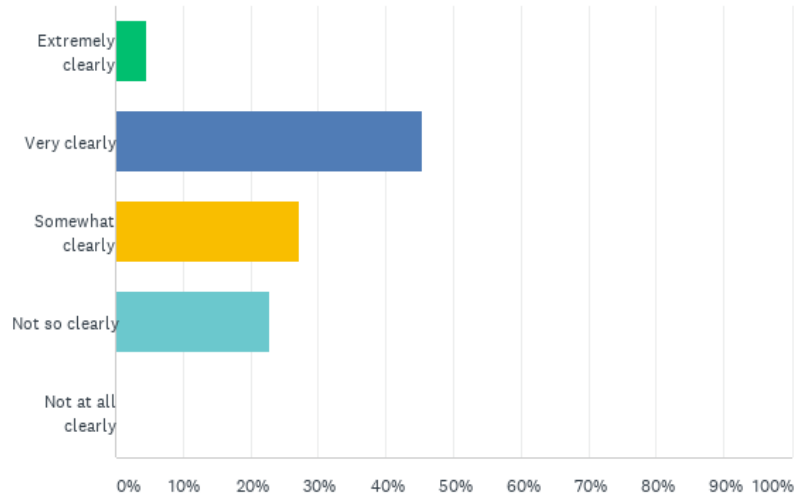

Feedback

The responses to the questions appear to be candid and insightful with a mix of positive and negative. The following pages provide an analysis of each section. All the comments are shared as they were written – the only edit made was the re-typing of all caps responses.

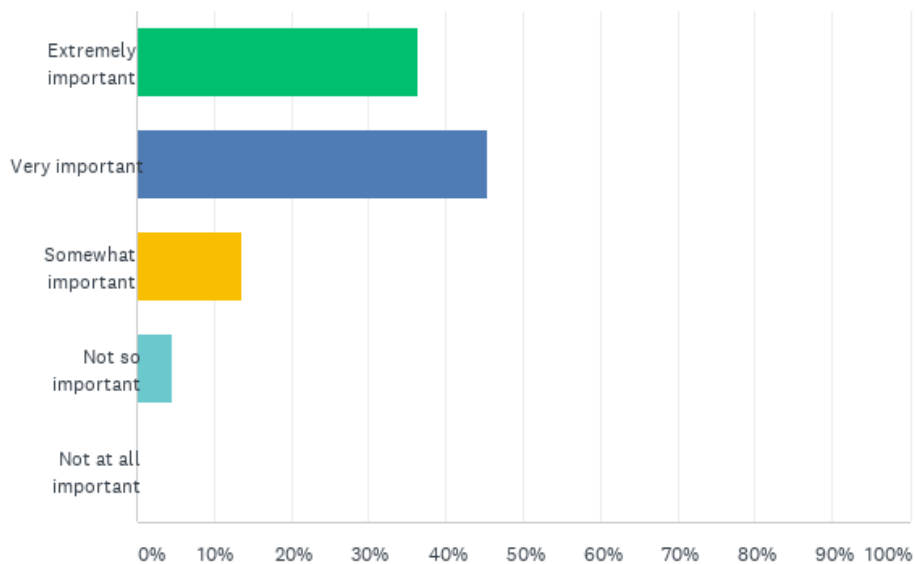

Company Objectives

Q1 Are the company's strategic objectives clearly communicated to the entire organization?

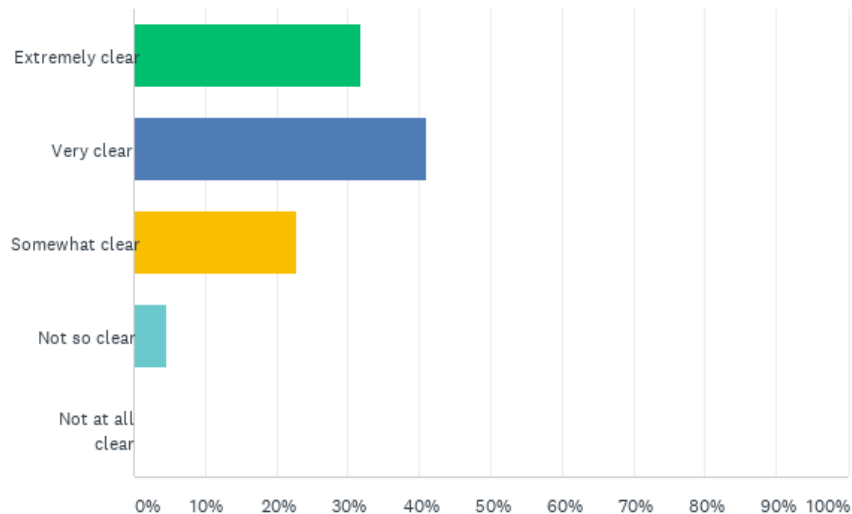

Q2 How important it is to you to know the company's objectives?

Q3 Is it clear to you how your role contributes to meeting the company's objectives?

Q4 Do you have any comments you would like to add regarding the organization?

- There needs to be more management oversight of the day to day operations.
- The objectives are clear. Given the stocking issues, the path to the objectives is fairly blurry much of the time.
- Better communication as to how our sales goals are decided, and the ability for input as employees on how to overcome obstacles that arise.
- Good work on company management communicating what our goals are and where we are headed and what it will take to get there.
- Errors and inventory and on order is discouraging.
- Not sure the objectives are consistently/timely communicated throughout the entire organization.

Analysis of responses

With 50% of the responses indicating the company's objectives are somewhat/not clearly communicated company-wide in conjunction with 82% indicating the importance of knowing the company objectives as either extremely or very important, demonstrates the need for improvements in this area. Also, slightly conflicting to the responses for Q1 are the responses to Q3 with 72% of the responses feel they know how their role contributes to the company objectives.

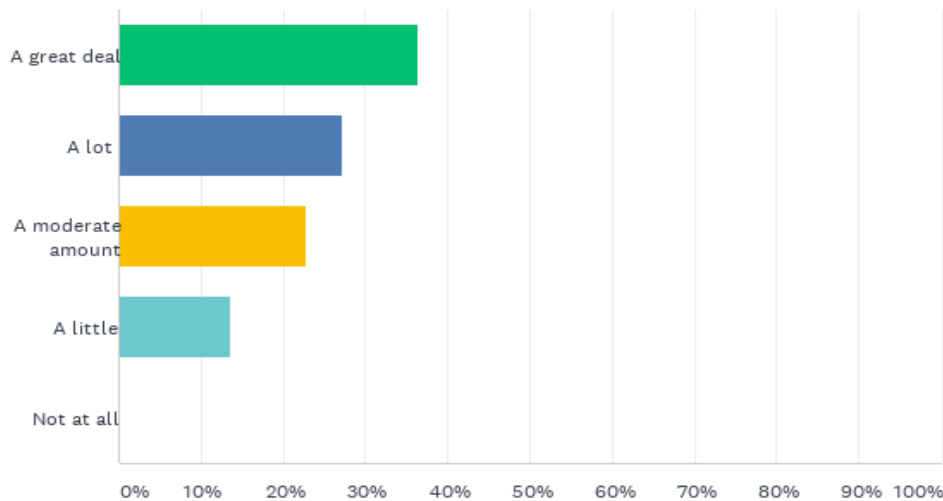

2021 Employee Survey Results

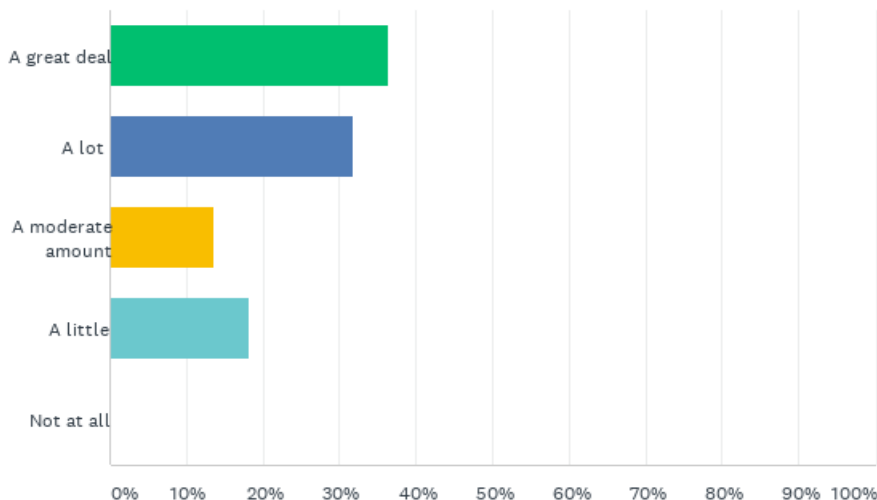

Some of the comments suggest the objectives are well communicated, but considering these comments alongside the responses to Q1, implies communication isn't consistent throughout the company. This could mean inconsistency within a department (i.e. not sharing on a regular basis) and/or not reaching certain areas/positions all together within the company.

Management

Q5 Do you feel valued by the management team?

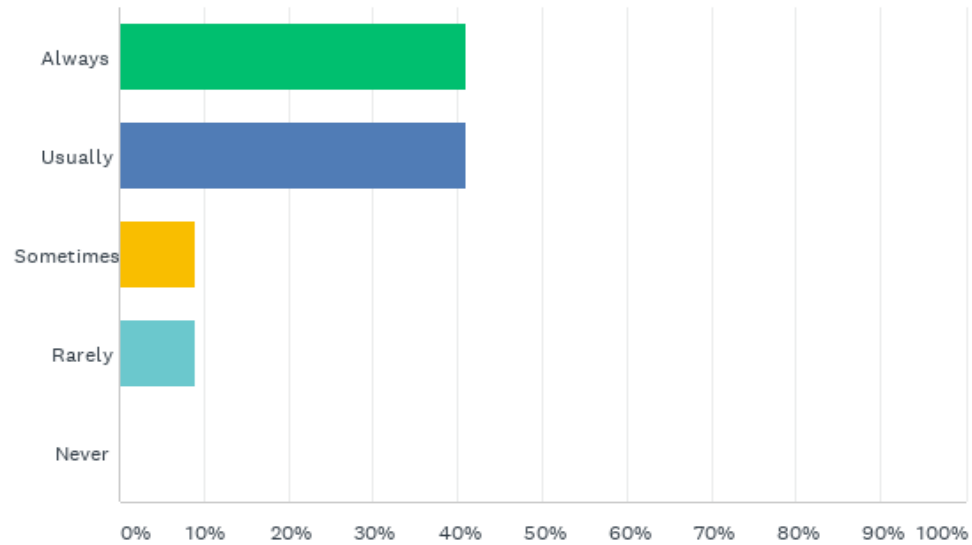

Q6 Does management team seem invested your in the success?

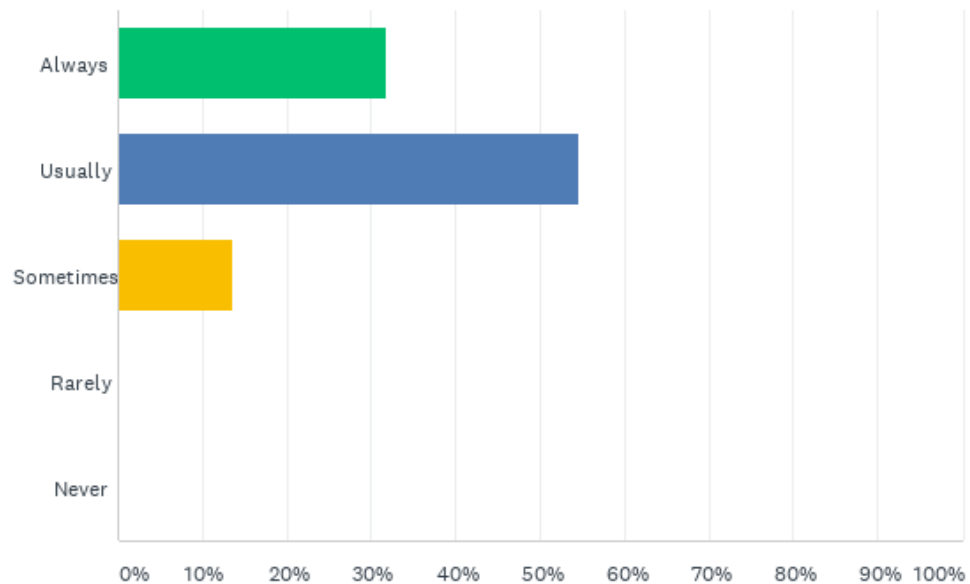

Q7 Does the management team contribute to a positive company culture?

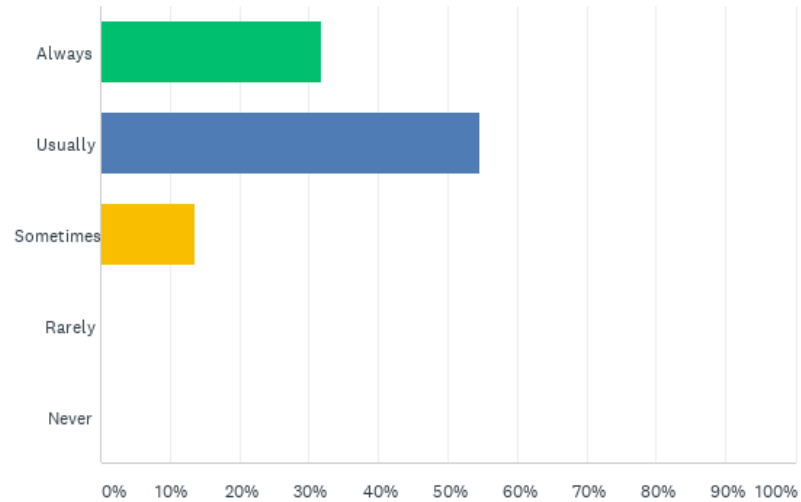

Q8 How often does your supervisor give you feedback about your work?

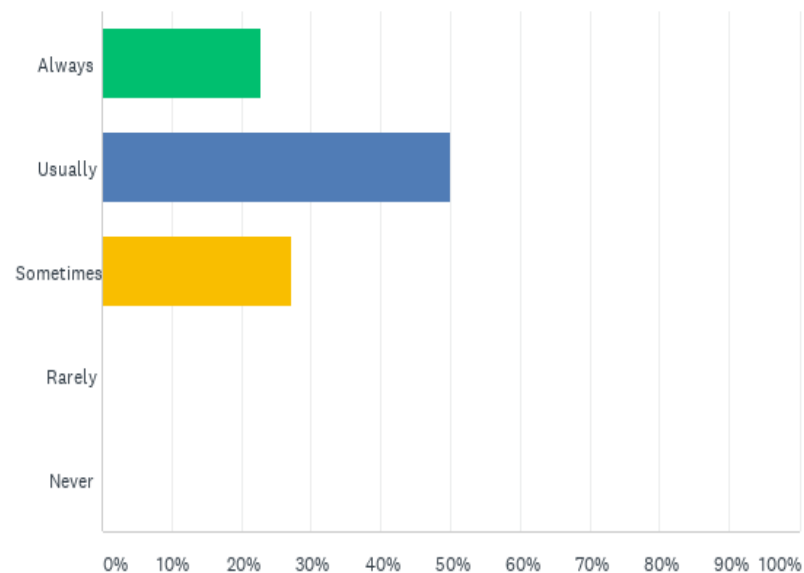

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q9 When someone performs a task well, how often does your supervisor acknowledge this success?

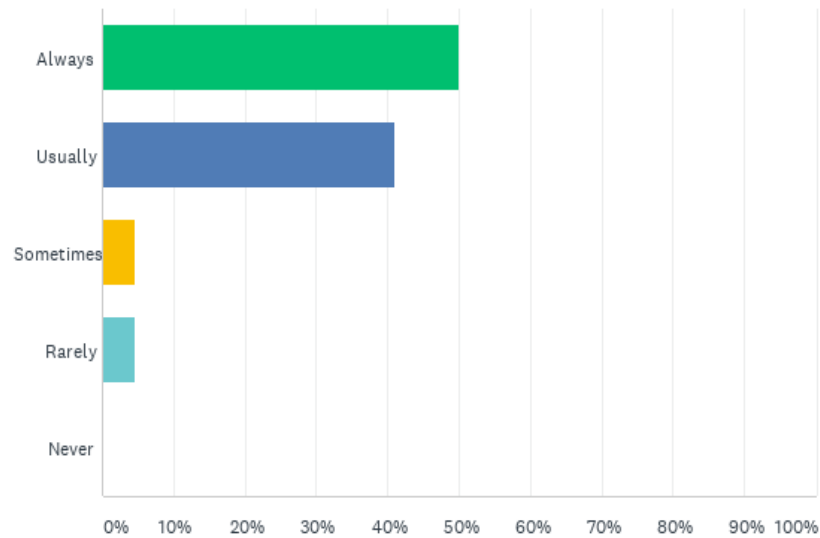

Q10 How often does your supervisor ask for the team's opinions when making decisions

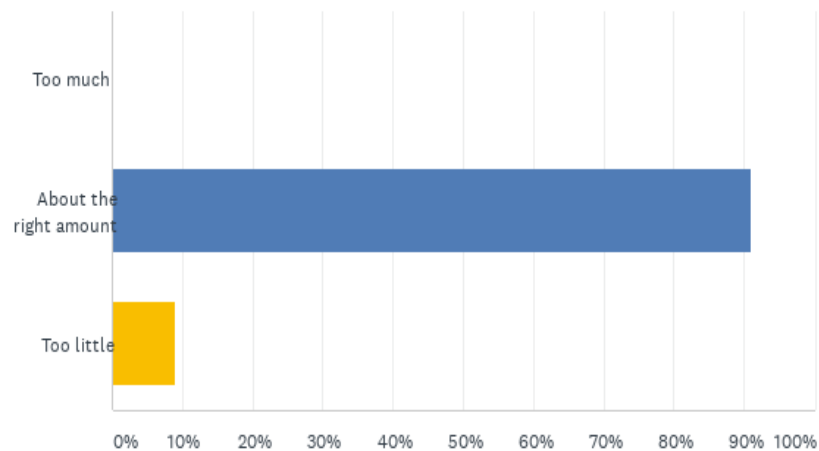

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q11 Does your supervisor communicate company news effectively and timely?

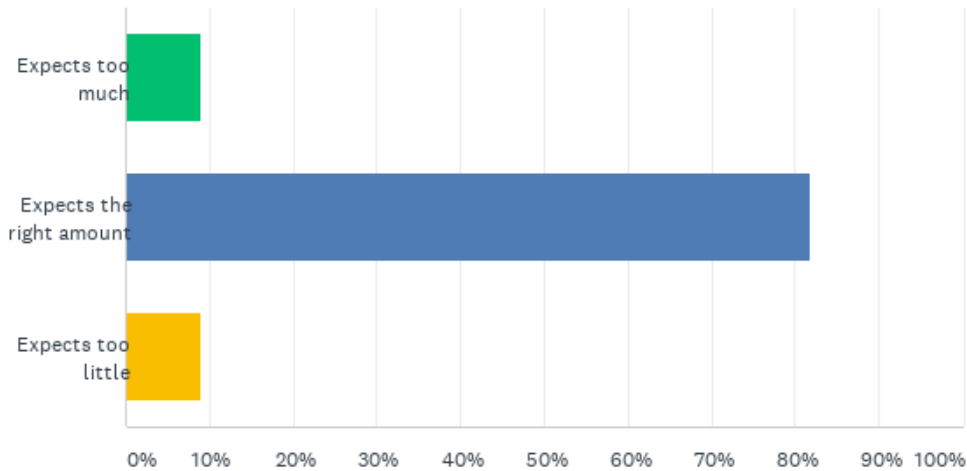

Q12 Are you supervised too much at work, supervised too little, or supervised about the right amount?

Q13 How realistic are the expectations of your supervisor?

Q14 Do you agree or disagree with the following statements:

	STRONGLY AGREE	SOMEWHAT AGREE	NEITHER AGREE NOR DISAGREE	SOMEWHAT DISAGREE	STRONGLY DISAGREE
My supervisor is available when I need help.	86.36% 19	4.55% 1	4.55% 1	0.00% 0	4.55% 1
I feel my opinions are heard and valued by my supervisor.	59.09% 13	27.27% 6	9.09% 2	0.00% 0	4.55% 1
My supervisor encourages me to give my best effort at work.	72.73% 16	4.55% 1	13.64% 3	4.55% 1	4.55% 1
When I make a mistake, my supervisor responds constructively.	68.18% 15	18.18% 4	4.55% 1	4.55% 1	4.55% 1
My supervisor behaves professionally.	81.82% 18	4.55% 1	9.09% 2	0.00% 0	4.55% 1
I am comfortable giving upwards feedback to my supervisor	63.64% 14	22.73% 5	9.09% 2	0.00% 0	4.55% 1
I trust my supervisor	68.18% 15	18.18% 4	4.55% 1	4.55% 1	4.55% 1

Q15 Do you have any comments you would like to add regarding management?

- The amount of work being done by different employees with the same title is night and day and management really doesn't care
- Going to expectations... We were given our quotas without knowledge of equipment and parts outages. So I think it would have been appropriate to probably re-align the numbers knowing that we would be losing 20-30% of equipment's sales based on inventory levels. For most of 2021 the Goodman line has had HUGE holes in it. And this is our main line to anyone "new". It makes going after "new business" very difficult.
- My first answers do not apply to my direct supervisor, I feel the lack of value and Lack of Positive culture come from Higher.
- Communications from my direct supervisor are very effective, and informative. I would really like to see some sort of evaluation process to give direct feedback for individual employees, with incentives for performance. IE: raises.
- Management is supportive and constructive. They care about quality of life both at work and outside of work.
- My boss works long hard hours with no thanks for what he does and he never works from home.
- They do great with what they have.
- Some good changes are taking place. The warehouse is more organized and easier to find parts. Having a designated driver makes us more competitive and allows for smoother receiving and getting orders out the door. Placing orders is more streamlined. Warranties are current. Finances seem to be getting cleaned up. A new phone system is in the works. A new salesperson is on board. We have a knowledgeable HR professional. It feels like a more progressive atmosphere at this time.

Analysis of responses

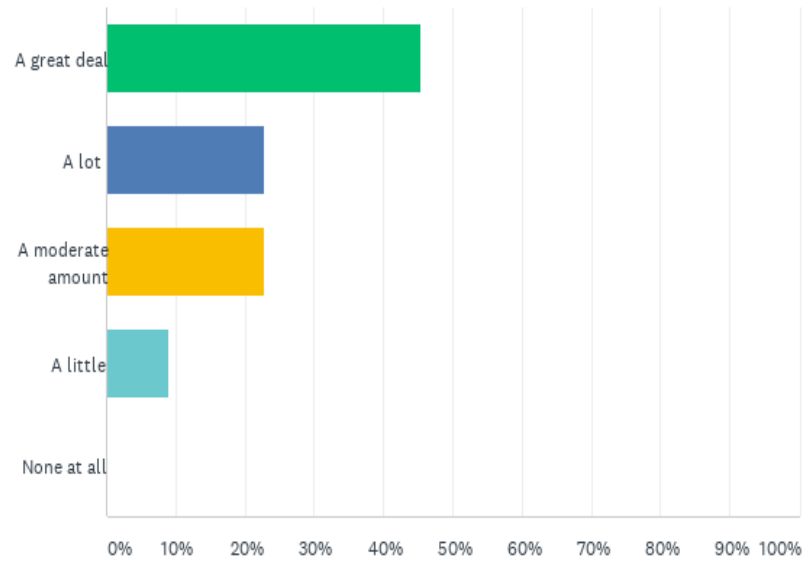

For the most part, the responses in this section are positive with the questions relating to an employee's direct supervisor slightly more favorable than ones relating to the management team as a whole. This indicates good relationships between managers and their direct teams, but also implies the management team as a whole, or particular members of the team, have opportunity for improvements.

Areas for improvement: 36% replied they feel valued by the management team a moderate or a little amount; 32% replied they feel the management team is moderately or a little invested in their success; 36% somewhat agree or are neutral in terms of feeling their opinions are heard and valued by their supervisor.

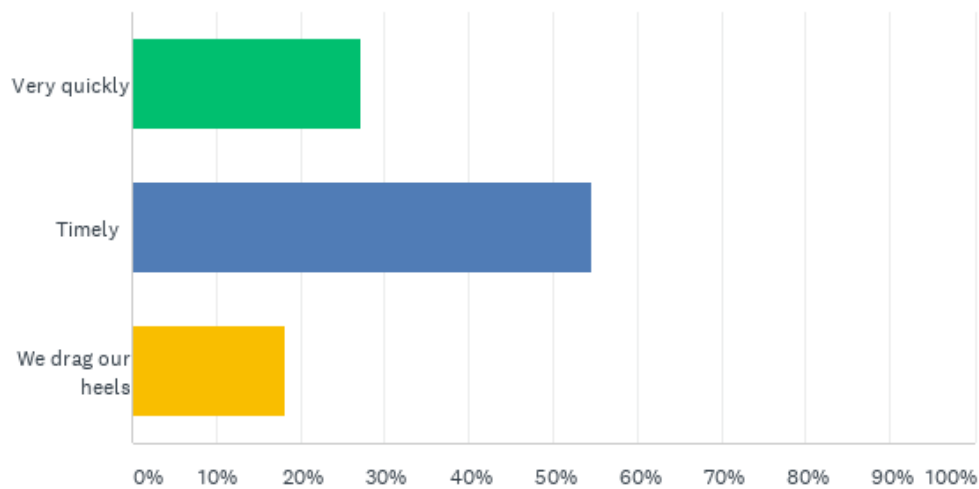

Teams

Q16 Do you feel your immediate team members work together towards a common goal?

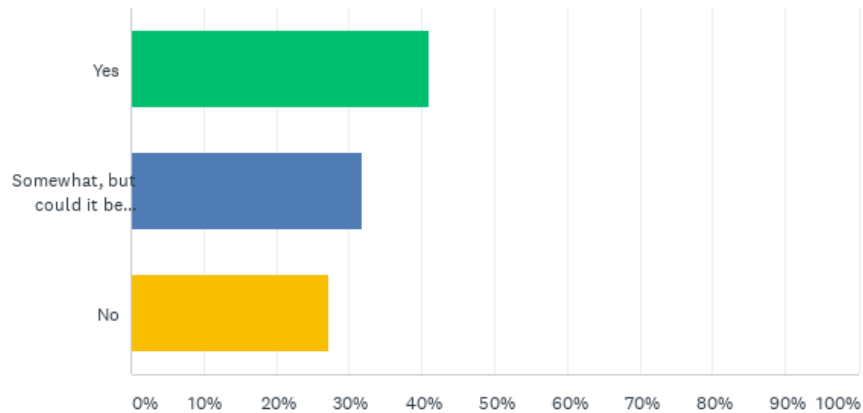

Q17 How quickly does your team act on a decision?

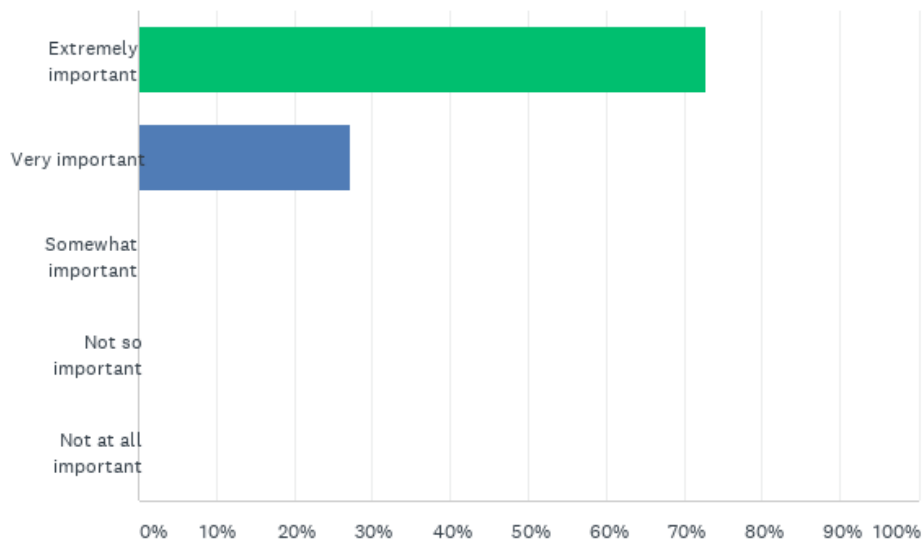

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q18 Do you feel there is good communication between departments? (sales, business office, warehouse, etc.)?

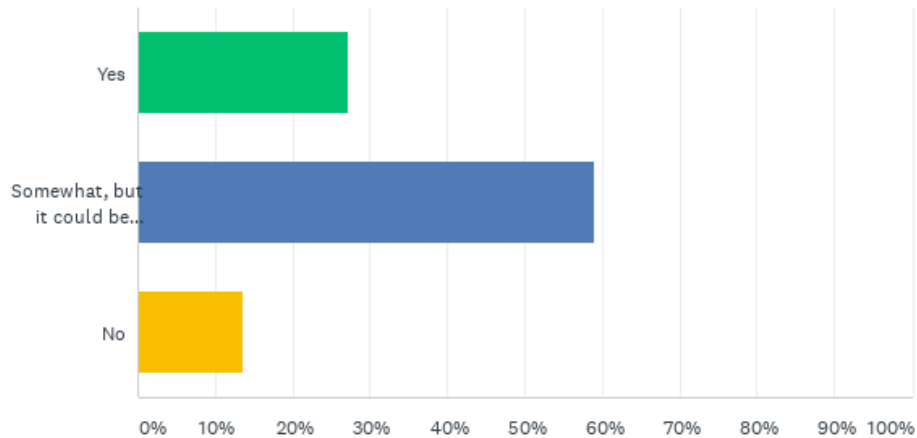

Q19 Do you feel communications between departments is important?

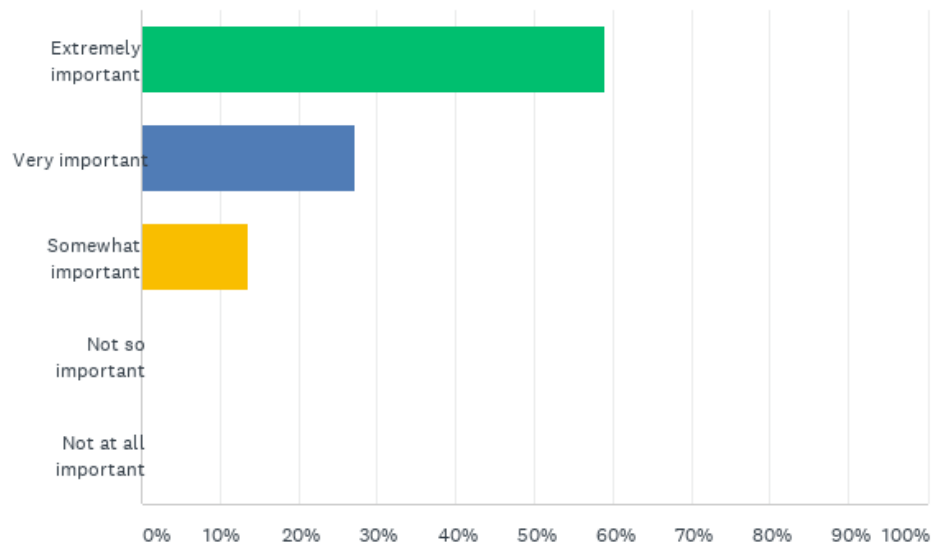

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q20 Do you feel there is good communication between branches?

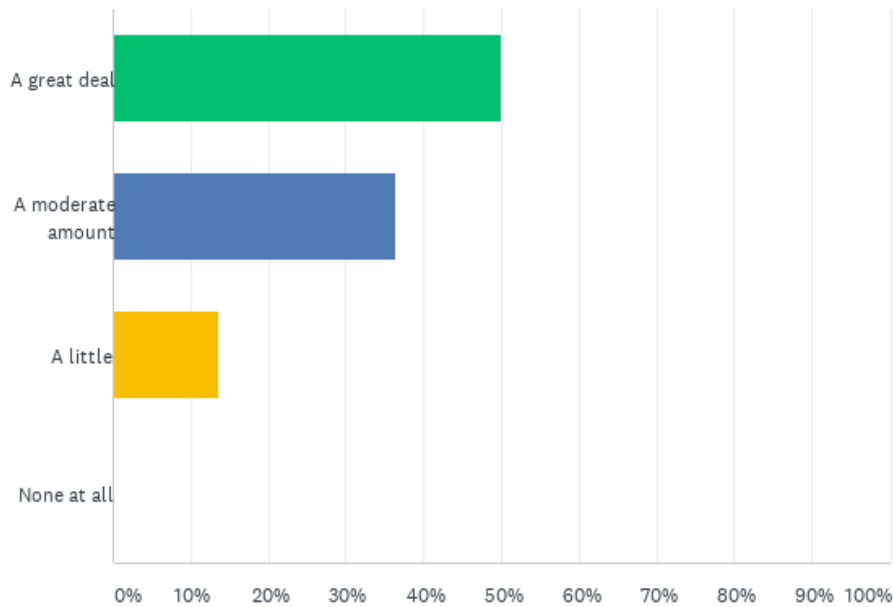

Q21 Do you feel communication between the branches is important?

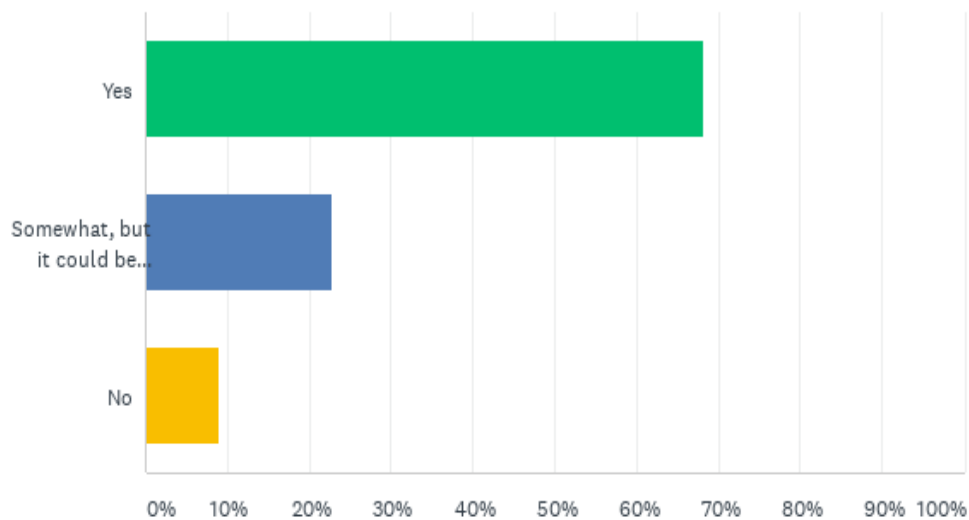

Q22 Do you feel like coworkers give each other respect here?

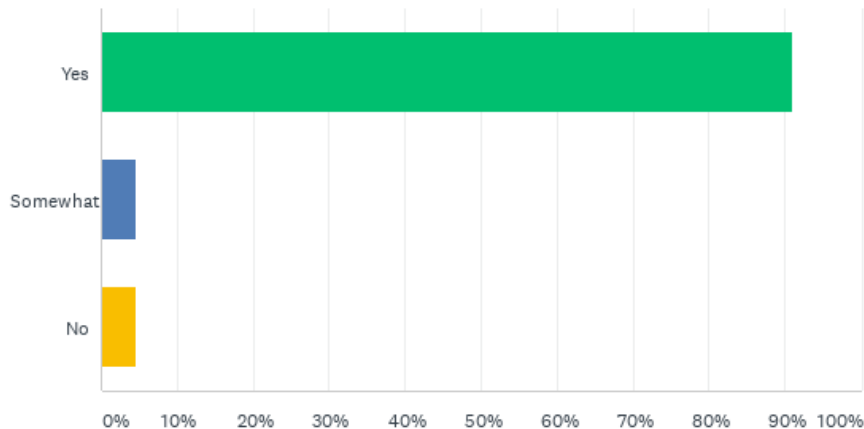

Q23 Do you feel work is distributed evenly across your team?

Q24 Do you feel your manager treats all team members equally?

Q25 Do you have any comments you would like to add regarding teams?

- Together Everyone Achieves More, meaning when there's product to be put away, it shouldn't be left to one or two people, everyone needs to pitch in, including counter staff.
- Some employees do just enough while others go above and beyond....The employees that do just enough are treated the same as the employees that go above and beyond....problem is....there is no benefit for putting forth extra effort and there is no repercussions for an employee to be lazy.. makes for a miserable work place.
- I feel like many of the people in the branches have adapted a great work ethic and want to see Johnstone succeed, but I do feel like some people embrace the past and what we used to do, not looking to the future and what we can do.
- I feel like a company should work together like a family. I think we do this very well.
- We all seem to work well together; each of us making efforts to account for the individuality of team members.
- Teams. Pffffffft
- Teamwork is pretty good.

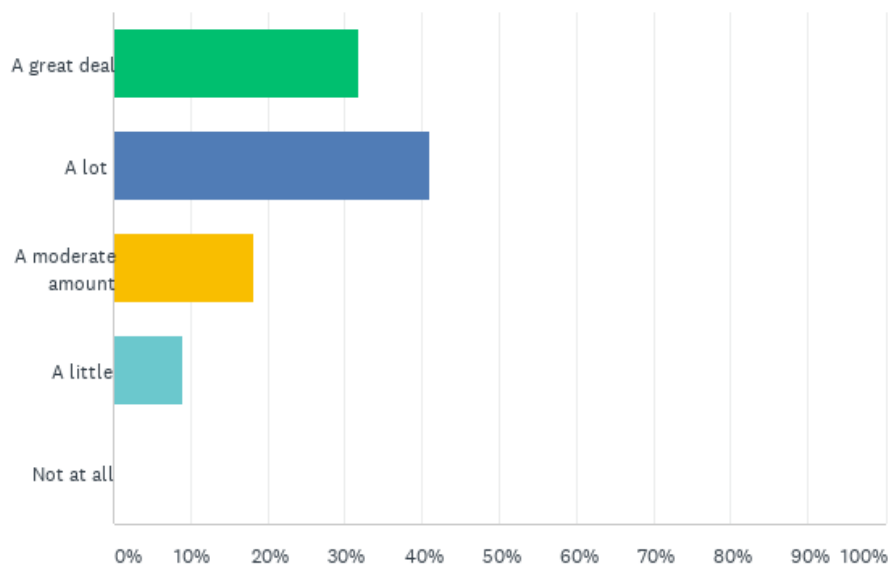

Analysis of responses

The responses in this section indicate the need for improved communication between departments and branches. 59% replied there is somewhat or no communication between departments, with 100% of the respondents feeling the communication between departments is extremely or very important. 73% replied there is somewhat or no communication between the branches, with 86% of the respondents feeling this communication is very or extremely important. None of the comments specifically mentioned communication.

31% feel work is somewhat or not distributed evenly across their team. There are also several comments throughout this survey with respects to workload – either implying co-workers are not pulling their weight, or the work isn't distributed evenly. This is also supported by the responses to employees feeling their teams are working towards a common goal - 32% of replies moderately or a little.

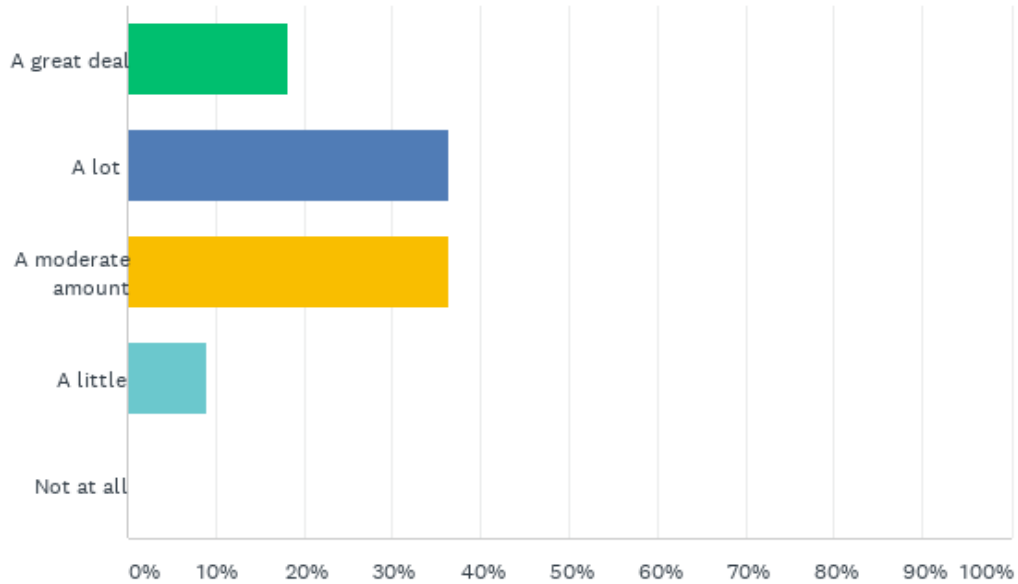

Professional Development

Q26 Do you feel like your job utilizes your skills and abilities as much as it could?

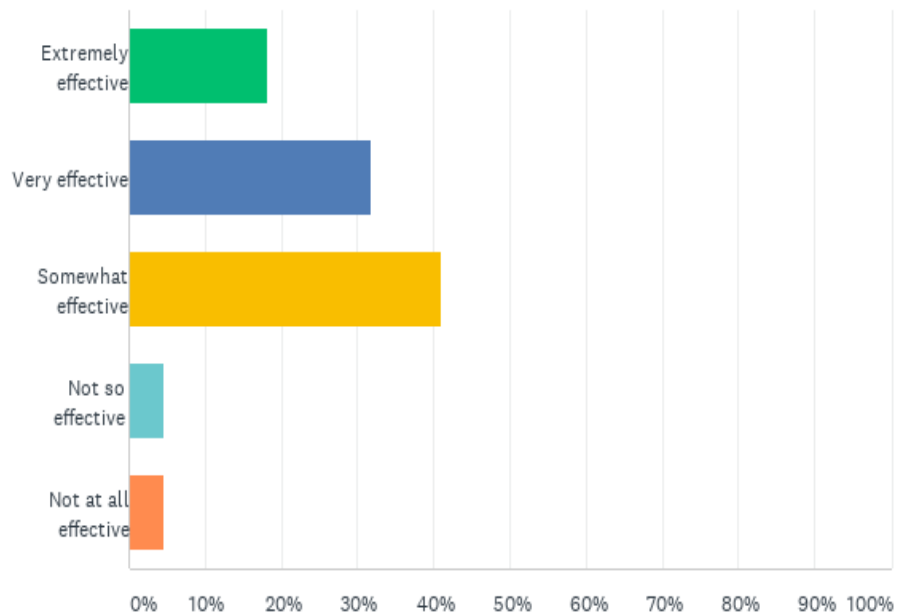

Q27 How challenged are you by your work?

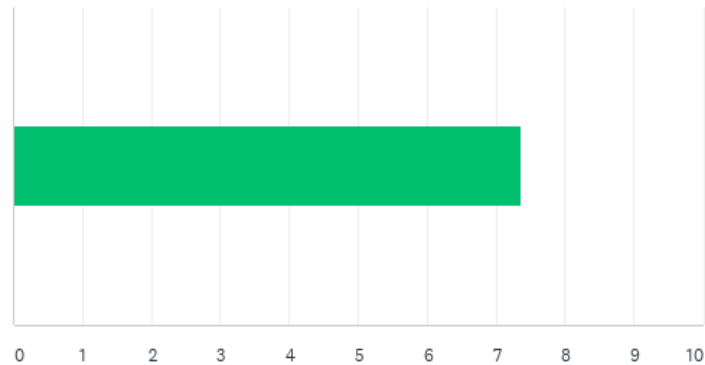

Q28 How effective is the training you receive?

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q29 How important it is to you on a scale of 1 (not important) to 10 (very important) to have an individual development plan (IDP)?

Q30 Please respond to the following questions:

	YES	SOMEWHAT	NO	TOTAL
Do you feel you have had enough training to be successful in your job?	59.09% 13	27.27% 6	13.64% 3	22
Do you feel there are opportunities for personal growth such as skill enhancement?	80.95% 17	9.52% 2	9.52% 2	21
Do you feel you are learning new skills and growing professionally?	68.18% 15	31.82% 7	0.00% 0	22
Does the company offer opportunities for individual development and career growth within the company?	42.86% 9	52.38% 11	4.76% 1	21
Does the company offer defined career paths and opportunities for promotions?	23.81% 5	57.14% 12	19.05% 4	21

Q31 Do you have any comments you would like to add regarding professional development?

- IDP would be nice but without management being on board its useless
- There is no “training”, just what you take on yourself with very little guidance.
- Would like a career plan. Would love to see rewards, recognition, plaques, certifications for achievements, employee of the month, company parties, something to motivate the workforce.
- There is not a clear path to training and on-boarding, this would go along way to making sure people we are putting in place are able to do the job and if they could be upward mobile.
- There isn't any clear path for advances, or wage increases. Training is available, but with no clear incentive, or reward. I believe we all want our company to succeed, both as a business, and personally.
- It is a small company, so opportunities are few but the ones that are there are able to be explored.
- We do need to make some improvements on how we train people, especially new ones. There have been some improvements in this area, but still more are needed. IDPs would also be a good step as they work at an individual level and help employees work towards their professional goals.

Analysis of responses

73% of the respondents feel their job utilizes their skills and abilities a lot or a great deal. 55% feel challenged in their job by a lot or a great deal while 36% feel it's a moderate amount.

The importance of having an IDP ranked fairly high with the average response of 7 out of 10, with 10 being very important. The implementation of IDPs can also aid in defining career paths, which both questions relating to the topic scored low in terms of having clear, defined career paths.

Regarding training employees receive, 59% feel they have had enough training to be successful in their job, but 50% feel their training they receive is either somewhat effective to not effective at all. Some of the comments imply there is little to no training. Further understanding of these results will need to be explored, but this is an area of opportunity to improve.

Compensation & Benefits

Q32 Do you agree or disagree with the following statements (if you do not participate in a particular benefit, please select “Doesn’t apply”):

	STRONGLY AGREE	AGREE	DISAGREE	STRONGLY DISAGREE	DOESN'T APPLY	TOTAL
I feel as though I am fairly compensated for the work I currently do.	23.81% 5	42.86% 9	23.81% 5	4.76% 1	4.76% 1	21
I am satisfied with our commission/bonus plan.	33.33% 7	38.10% 8	23.81% 5	4.76% 1	0.00% 0	21
I have been informed of all the company benefits available to me.	66.67% 14	33.33% 7	0.00% 0	0.00% 0	0.00% 0	21
I am satisfied with the benefits offered by the company overall.	38.10% 8	57.14% 12	0.00% 0	0.00% 0	4.76% 1	21
I am satisfied with the health insurance benefits (including HRA contributions).	33.33% 7	28.57% 6	4.76% 1	0.00% 0	33.33% 7	21
I am satisfied with the 401k plan and company matching.	61.90% 13	33.33% 7	0.00% 0	0.00% 0	4.76% 1	21
I believe our PTO policy is fair.	28.57% 6	38.10% 8	33.33% 7	0.00% 0	0.00% 0	21

Q33 Do you have anything you add regarding compensation & benefits.

- I would like to see the vacation policies to allow for roll over into the next year, so we don't have everyone trying to take their respected vacations at the end of the year, which makes for a difficult time being short handed.
- I have not had a review or a raise since I started.
- Wish company match was better on 401k
- I came from a place where I had 5-6 weeks vacations for over a decade, so the 3 weeks including sick time is a little light as compared to what I had. I had worked this out in the interview, but a lot has changed since then.
- I believe that some people are under-paid and others are very over paid for the amount of work they are producing

2021 Employee Survey Results

- I feel like performance reviews are one of the best ways for clear communication between employees and management of the expectations for advancement. As responsibilities, and duties change, so should the compensation.
- more years should get more days
- pay level not high enough
- Our PTO policy is fairly light compared to what other companies offer. We also should be able to roll a certain amount of unused PTO to the following year.
- we should have the options to cash in our PTO, should not be a use or lose it policy
- Raises were non-existent until this year, and company bonus used to be available to all store staff.
- No annual raises, feel underpaid for the amount of work imposed

Analysis of responses

The responses regarding benefits were positive with 95% satisfied with the overall benefits offered by the company. Areas which scored lower in this section were compensation and PTO.

While some felt their compensation was not high enough, there were several comments throughout the survey pointing to lack of raises/reviews. This should improve with the annual review/raise process already in progress.

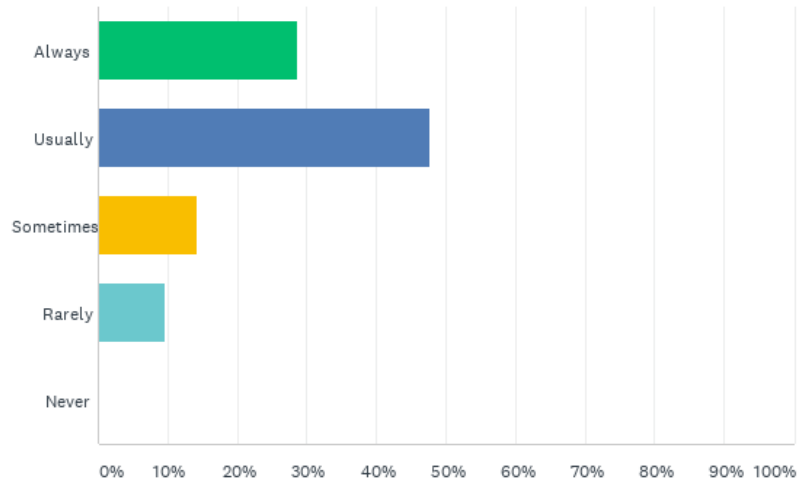

Most of the responses around PTO were regarding the days offered were low as well as having the option to roll days to the following year v. a “use it or lose it” policy. A review of the current policies as well as drafting potential changes is recommended.

Note: There was a policy change effective 1/1/21, PTO days are increased at the five-year mark.

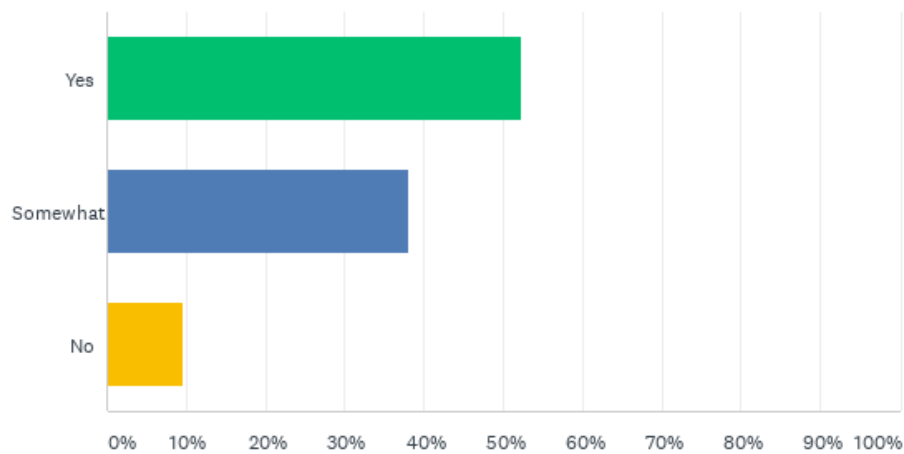

Tools

Q34 Do you feel the company informs you about all the resources and tools available to perform your duties well?

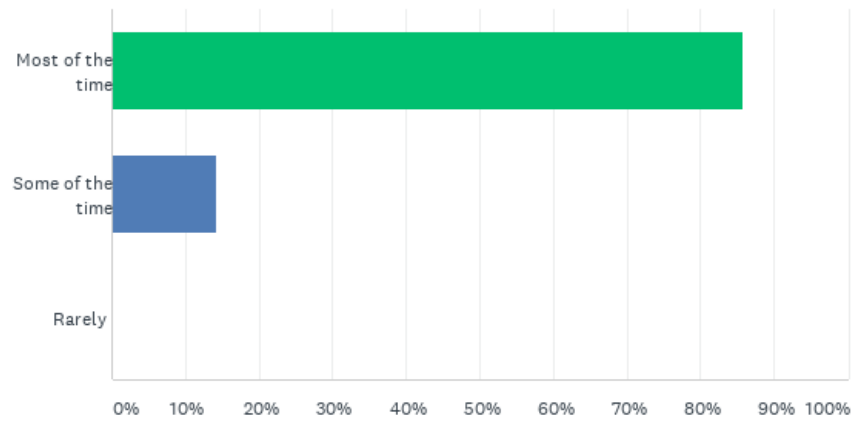

Q35 Do you feel you have all the tools necessary to do your job?

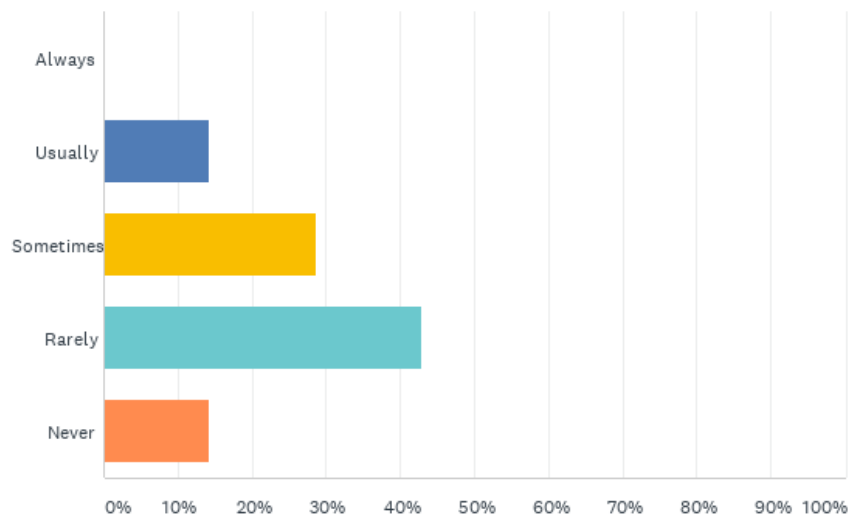

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q36 If something unusual comes up, do you know who to go for a solution?

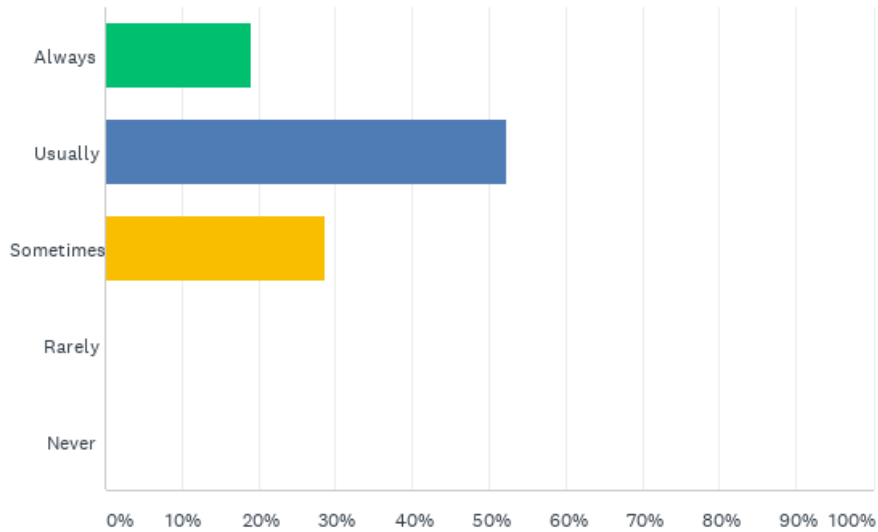

Q37 Do you struggle to get information to make better decisions at work?

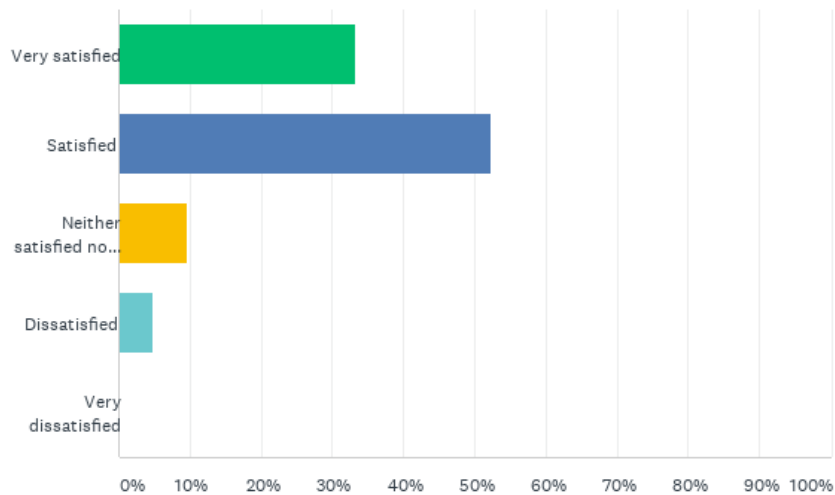

Q38 Do you feel you get enough time to do your job well?

Q39 Are you satisfied with the level of comfort in your physical workspace?

Q40 Do you have any comments to add regarding the tools available to you at work?

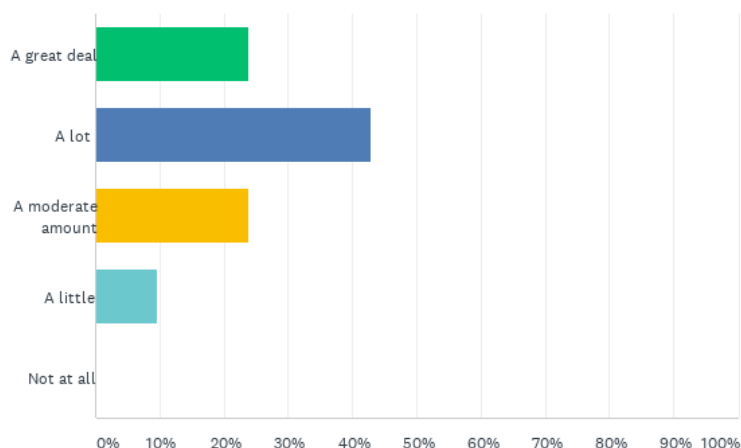

- I would recommend more communication with employees when decisions are made to upgrade systems. Simple things like the phones we use can make our daily work much more effective. I worry that large investments in the wrong places have a negative impact on the company as a whole, and not just financially.
- The workstations are not very well designed. They require leaning forward and straining somewhat to see the screen. We all try to make the best of it.
- our boss has most of the answers we need

Analysis of responses

48% of the respondents felt they either somewhat or didn't have all the tools necessary to do their job and 43% felt they struggled to get information to make better decisions at work. This is an area for further review to determine the type of tools (i.e. IT related) employees feel are needed in order to help them improve job performance. Improved communication and training efforts should address the struggling to get information concerns.

Work/Life Balance

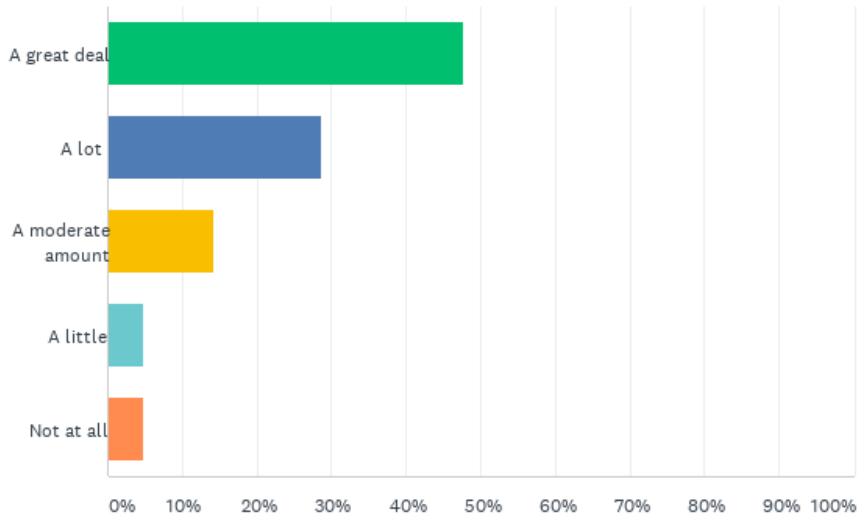

Q41 Do you believe the environment at work helps you strike the right balance between your work life and personal life?

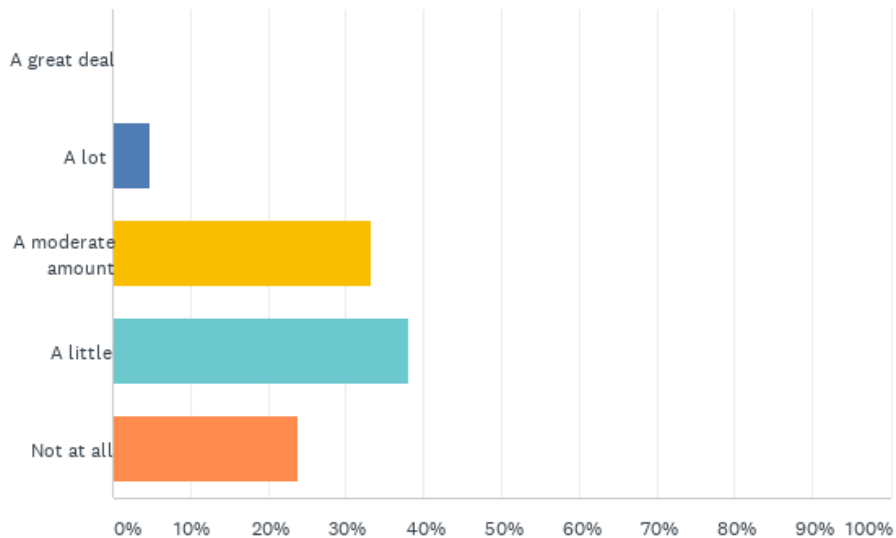

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q42 Do you feel management respects your personal family time?

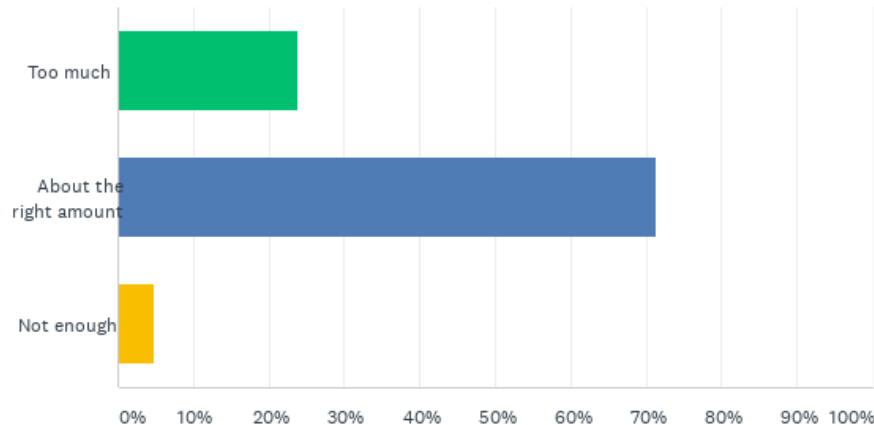

Q43 Does your job cause an unreasonable amount of stress for you?

Q44 How do you feel about your current workload?

Q45 Do you have any comments to add regarding work/life balance?

- your job should cause some stress, if you have no stress you are not taking on enough. this is don't see as a bad thing
- I am personally willing to put more effort into my work, but would like to see more PTO time in return. The balance between work, and family is very important. It makes sense to give 100% to each respectively.
- Work load is somewhere between right amount and too much
- My workload tends to float between the right amount and too much. More often leaning towards too much.

Analysis of responses

66% of the respondents felt the environment at works helps them strike the right work/life balance by a lot or a great deal. This is further supported by 76% of the responses indicating management respects their personal time by a lot or a great deal.

While 71% of the respondents believe they have about the right amount in terms of workload, 71% feel their job causes either a little or a moderate amount of unreasonable amount of stress for them. Before any actions can be taken, a deeper understanding of what employees are considering “unreasonable stress” and the triggers they feel are the cause. None of the comments offer any further explanation.

Q48 How open to change are we as an organization?

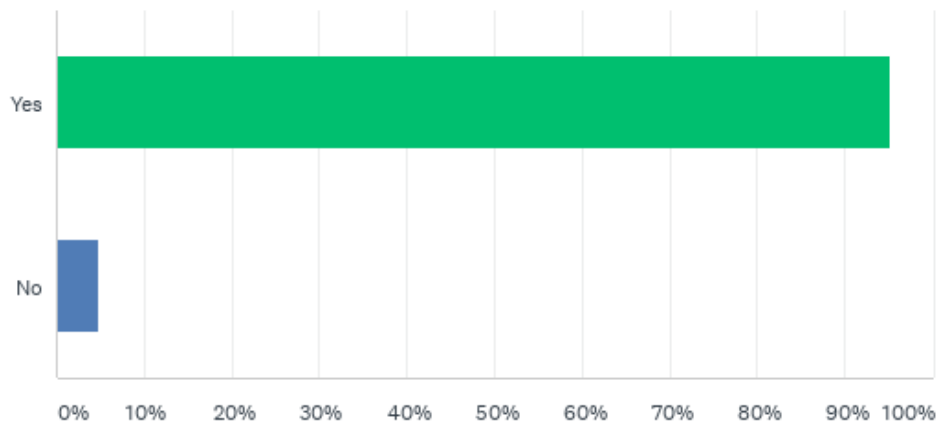

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q49 Are you satisfied with your job overall?

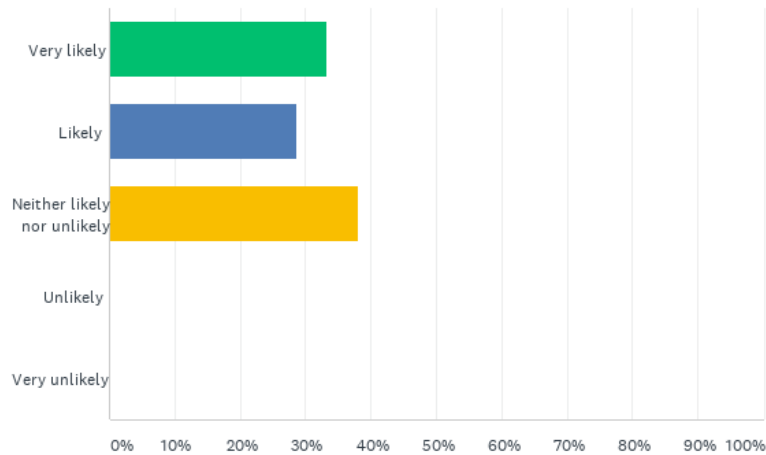

Q50 Are you proud of your company's brand?

2021 Employee Survey Results

Q51 How likely is it that you would recommend this company as a place to work to a friend or colleague?

Q52 If you were to leave the company, what would your reason for leaving be?

- Career growth
- Retirement
- To move to a warmer climate, possibly transfer to another Johnstone Supply.
- Better wages
- nothing at this time
- Looking for advancement opportunity
- Career advancement opportunity, better pay and culture. Structured company with recognition driven appreciation events and awards.
- Better money, more time off, more opportunity for advancement.
- offered allot more money for what I do.
- because I won the lottery
- Better compensation, and more time off.
- N/A
- Retirement

- no promotions available
- pay level
- Tired
- Lack of growth/improvements for the company as a whole.
- job offer way more money
- Time to go
- Not enough compensation

Q53 If you could change one thing about your job/workplace, what would it be?

- More cross training
- Everyone needs to know that we are all on the same team.
- That all employees put in the same effort
- nothing
- The speed at which we make decisions and roll out plans and objectives
- Inventory issues
- finding time to train more on the job, the training is offered but I have never had time at work to take advantage of it.
- closer to home (walking distance)
- More space to grow our company!
- N/A
- A warmer showroom both in summer and winter
- new building
- pay level increase
- Live a month
- Better collaboration across the company.
- add more people

Q54 Do you have any comments you would like to add to the organization section?

- Goals should be both for sales selling products and operations acquiring and having said product. Without the second, the first one cannot be successful.

- none
- Changes were slow to happen but that has been getting better in the last 12-24 months

Analysis of responses

In general, the feedback to the questions regarding the organization were positive. 86% are either satisfied or very satisfied with their job overall and 95% are proud of the company's brand. Adjectives used to describe our culture were a mix of friendly, professional, and chaotic.

80% of the respondents feel culture is important or very important. Both having fun at work and friendly competitions for reaching company goals rank higher in importance with 67% and 71%, respectively, either important or very important. Most notable was 90% of respondents believe acknowledgement for good work is either important or very important. Referring back to Q8, how often does your supervisor give you feedback about your work (55% replied usually, 31% replied always) and Q9 when someone performs a task well, how often does your supervisor acknowledge this success (55% usually, 31% always), further demonstrates this is an area that needs to be maintained and potentially improved on. Company functions didn't appear to be as important to employees with 71% responding either somewhat, not very, or not important at all.

57% believe the company's openness to change is either somewhat open, not so open, or not open at all. While changes/improvements are being made across the company, these responses could imply ideas/suggestions from employees are not being heard or implemented (Q10 supervisor asking for team's opinion when making decision, 50% usually, 27% sometimes and Q14 36% somewhat agree or are neutral in terms of feeling their opinions are heard and valued by their supervisor), the changes are not being communicated properly, or the right changes are not being implemented. Further review should be conducted as this is an area for improvement.

Responses to Q52, if you were to leave the company, what would your reason be, are consistent with areas of concerns in previous questions: growth opportunities, better pay, and more time off. Similarly, responses to Q53, if you could change one thing about your job/workplace what would it be, are consistent with areas of concerns or importance in previous questions: training and teamwork.
