Executive Summary

As a leading employee assistance program provider since 1983, eni is pleased to participate in the EAP RFP process and present NexGen EAP. eni's NexGen EAP goes well beyond traditional EAPs by addressing the holistic, total wellbeing of employees.

It's vital for organizations to make sure that their employees know they are valued and cared about as individuals. Employees who feel valued also feel more engaged and are more likely to stay with their company. But how do you demonstrate to your employees that you care? One way is to implement a comprehensive program that reflects the full lives of employees outside of the job – a program like NexGen EAP. Not only does NexGen use a holistic, total wellbeing approach, it also provides employees, their spouses, dependents, and members of their households with access to tools and resources to improve the areas of their lives that matter to them.

NexGen EAP can support your first responders with short-term counseling sessions, and a suite of services that work together to address the holistic wellbeing of employees. Our solution synergistically connects 8 distinct benefits – short term counseling; virtual concierge services; health advocacy; financial resources; legal support; wellness coaching and support; eLearning; and employee discounts - into one cohesive program. NexGen EAP synergistically integrates all of these components on eni's proprietary platform to assist employees with not just their mental wellbeing, but their total wellbeing. eni takes everything off of your employees' plates so they can focus on the work at hand. Our Virtual Concierge services can help secure reliable childcare. NexGen's Wellness support will work to help employees establish or maintain healthy habits that contribute to their overall wellbeing.

When an employee, spouse, dependent, or household member contacts eni via the EAP phone line a master's prepared counselor, or Intake Specialist, answers the call and immediately assesses their current situations and needs, then connects them with all of the services they may benefit from on one call. This process works in conjunction with eni's proprietary administrative software, allowing each eni specialist to immediately input and access data when assisting a caller. Our Intake Specialists are trained to spend as much time as necessary on the phone with each caller to ensure they have a positive experience. All information is confidential, and all data is securely stored under multiple layers of protection.

eni's many long-term partnerships with public and private entities including fintech companies, and municipalities have positioned us to provide the most customized support for employees and their families. eni's NexGen EAP is recognized as a comprehensive program, referring employees to only the most therapeutically appropriate licensed clinicians for face-to-face, telephonic, or teleconferencing sessions. We understand that many employees, and inadvertently their families, are subject to stressful situations daily, and may need assistance to build a successful work-life balance, as well as manage the emotions being experienced as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Headquartered in Upstate New York with an extensive client base and robust provider network, and over 37 years in the EAP space, eni has the expertise and dedication to deliver quality services that will enhance the human experience for your employees. Whether the source of problems is from the employee, the workplace, or greater society, organizations throughout the United States and Canada have turned to eni to help respond to these concerns. eni's NexGen has the agility, customizability, and capabilities to enhance your EAP and take it to the next level.

NexGen EAP Workings

Direct Care Qualifications

eni has built a team of highly qualified professionals and processes dedicated to providing supportive, professional, confidential, and timely assistance to employees. Employees are referred to licensed counselors with at least Master's level degrees, five years of experience, and a professional office location.

Staff members who will work directly with employees and dependents hold many high-level credentials, including the following: Master of Arts in Social Work (MSW), Licensed Master Social Worker (LMSW), Master of Arts in Counseling, Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist, and DOT Substance Abuse Professional. The field experience of our staff is broad and includes coordination and facilitation of Critical Incident Stress Debriefing (CISD) services.

eni has a vast network of providers across the United States. We direct contract with them, ensuring that proper credentials are maintained and in good standing. Additionally, eni works continuously to take care of our providers. Our providers are able to submit claims electronically, automatically update their licensing information, and provide their availability online to better connect employees and their families with the providers that best meet their therapeutic needs and personal preferences.

EAP Assessment and Counseling Services

With a focus on connecting employees with goal-oriented, short-term counseling, eni's EAP benefit is available to employees and their families, 24/7/365, via a live-answer call center staffed with certified, licensed, Master's level mental health professionals (Intake Specialists) who immediately perform an assessment and provide in the moment support.

- Calls are answered, on average, within 16 seconds and assessments are done at once, allowing the caller to receive immediate assistance.
- We do not utilize an automated answering service – employees can be confident that they will be speaking one-on-one with a highly capable mental health professional during each and every call.
- Each caller is guided through our proprietary intake questionnaire that documents their symptoms, history, and safety concerns. The intake questionnaire also assesses for potential areas of risk of which the caller may be unaware.

Every Intake Specialist is qualified to evaluate routine, urgent, and emergency calls, and is trained to contact the appropriate authorities if a caller is suspected to be of harm to themselves or others. Qualified specialists are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year to handle both urgent and emergency cases in an efficient and professional manner as well as provide referrals for face-to-face, telephonic, or video counseling sessions.

- Emergency calls are handled immediately, and the appropriate authorities are contacted to ensure the safety of the employee and those around them.
- Urgent calls are referred to an in-network clinician and will receive face-to-face counseling within 24 hours of the initial call.

Intake Process

To give our providers the opportunity to listen for audio cues and other indicators of the caller's wellbeing, all EAP cases are initiated by phone call.

Employee calls eni.

24/7/365 access to certified, licensed counselors who complete intake and guide callers through eni's proprietary intake questionnaire.

Initial Assessment

Calls are evaluated as urgent, emergency, or routine, and safety risk is assessed as well as non-presenting issues.

Referral to a Provider

Referral is given for face-to-face, telephonic, or video counseling sessions with an in-network provider via warm transfer.

Proactive Follow-up

eni Intake Counselor will follow-up within 1-2 days to ensure caller's expectations were met and receive feedback on their EAP experience.

Case evaluation

Review caller and provider surveys, measure interventions, and generate customized service report.

- Routine calls are referred to an in-network clinician for face-to-face counseling within 3 business days.

Once a provider is selected, a warm transfer is conducted by our Intake Specialist or the employee is directed to schedule an appointment within 1-3 days of the initial call. The Intake Specialist will follow-up within two days to ensure the caller did not experience any difficulties scheduling the sessions.

eni's Intake Specialists are trained to listen critically to callers and provide additional resources to address underlying needs, resulting in one call to address all of the caller's problems.

Evaluation of each request occurs at case closure with feedback from the provider and client. Through this process we are able to measure the impact of our interventions and produce customized Service Reports for analysis. In addition, eni continuously tracks clients in order to ensure that service is provided in a timely fashion and in accordance with our policies and procedures. Internal audits of these procedures are conducted to ensure that our services and our procedures are consistently improved.

Management Consultations & Mandatory Referrals

Employees that are referred or mandated to contact the EAP follow the same process outlined above. Performance-based mandates require notification and eni strictly follows HIPAA regulations and guidelines which require a signed and dated Release of Information form (ROI) from the employee identifying the appropriate contact. The ROI form allows eni to provide the designated contact with mandate compliance.

An integral component of the EAP benefit is to provide guidance and support to members of management teams. Your managers have Supervisory Consultations available to provide them with tools and strategies that will assist them in addressing employee issues and maintain their role as a supervisor. These consultations assist management teams in conflict prevention and maintaining an appropriate legal standing when addressing employee concerns.

Also available to members of management are EAP Orientations which provide an overview of the EAP and suggest how to discuss and encourage use of the benefit with employees, how to recognize inappropriate behavior, and how to utilize the EAP to improve performance.

eni will train supervisors, as identified by you, to monitor employee work performance, to conduct constructive confrontation interviews with troubled employees, and to make effective referrals to the employee assistance program. The supervisory training sessions will be conducted as scheduled by designated HR Representatives or designees.

- Provide supervisors with a supervisory guide describing all aspects of the EAP;
- Provide supervisors with ongoing immediate access to counselors to discuss any declining work performance of an employee, and assist the supervisor in making an effective engagement which may lead to entrance into the EAP;
- Provide HR Representatives or designees with quarterly reports, to keep them updated and informed about the EAP services, employee activity report, and other information as requested.
- Provide electronic or online training services.

Health-Care Provider Referral & Continuity of Care

In the event that an employee needs additional sessions after exhausting the EAP, eni (in cooperation with the employee) will assist the employees in verifying insurance coverage with the employee's insurance plan to identify any existing provider or service limitations prior to providing a referral to a specific provider.

NexGen EAP is designed for short-term care. If a provider recognizes that after initial visits that an individual needs long-term care, they will notify eni of the prognosis. Our Health Advocate will work to identify potential facilities, providers, and resources that are therapeutically appropriate for the individual. Once the providers or facilities are shortlisted, our Health Advocate will then work with the individual to ensure that the resources are accepted by their insurance, find out co-pay amounts, and assist with paperwork to initiate long-term care.

Confidentiality

We are dedicated to ensuring all employees' data is managed confidentially and securely. Utilizing multiple layers of data encryption, position-based permissions and HIPPA-compliant processes and procedures, eni takes pride

Response to RFP for EAP Service

These security processes are implemented and monitored by a team of highly-skilled Information Technology specialists focused on providing the most user-friendly, secure support solution to all of the 's employees and their family members.

In addition, eni's concierge services are always available to conduct research or provide information at our client's request. Each client's personalized web portal contains a wide variety of resources. HEALTH ADVOCACY

NexGen EAP's Health Advocacy services assist employees and eligible family members with managing their healthcare benefits through education and benefit navigation, thus enabling them to maximize their healthcare benefits. Research has found that it takes an employee approximately 4 hours during the workday to resolve a health insurance issue, ultimately affecting their work performance and productivity. An average employee phone call with an eni Care Guide lasts 15 minutes. This, coupled with a first call resolution rate of 85%, clearly demonstrates that our Care Guides quickly and efficiently assist employees, minimizing healthcare-related stressors.

When individuals contact eni's Care Guides, they can request assistance with minor healthcare concerns such as replacing ID cards, finding a provider that will work with their health plan, or locating low-cost prescription drugs. eni's Health Advocacy specialists provide assistance with appeals, claims, and adjudication. Guides can explain out-of-pocket expenses, provide plan and eligibility solutions and coordinate benefits, as well as assist with grievance and documentation submittal to help employees efficiently deal with claims issues and appeals.

Research has shown that employees who have experienced an extraordinary event and use CISD services recover from the event faster, more thoroughly, and with fewer symptoms than those who do not.

We take pride in our ability to respond to urgent situations in a professional and expedited manner. Many providers within eni's extensive network are available outside of traditional office hours, allowing us to select the most appropriate clinician to accommodate the customer's request for critical incident response services.
