What is a Performance Model?

The Performance Model for Regional Sales Manager provides the recommended range of skills and behaviors for the job. This report compares Ian Leach's assessment results to the range of scores to show how well he might fit the position. The Performance Model includes:

THINKING STYLE

- Thinking Style is the ability to process information.
- It includes problem-solving, communication, interaction, and learning skills.
- Results are illustrated on scales ranging from 1 to 10.
- A higher score is not necessarily the best indicator of on-the-job performance.

BEHAVIORAL TRAITS

- Behavioral Traits are commonly observed actions that help define who someone is.
- Each scale is defined by two opposing, but equally valuable, end points.
- One side of the continuum is not better than the other.

INTERESTS

- This section may indicate a person's motivation and potential satisfaction with various jobs.
- These are ranked in order from the person's highest- to lowest-scoring interest.

Distortion was not detected in this report. What does that mean?

Some candidates may answer in a way that is socially desirable or to make themselves look better, rather than respond candidly and risk disapproval. Based on his assessment results, it appears that Ian answered candidly.

Judgment

Basis for forming opinions and making decisions

Ideal Candidate: Salesperson who is most successful when provided ample information to make objective decisions, yet is capable of relying on intuition when necessary.

Ian: Fits the Performance Model.

INTERESTS

The assessment measures six possible Interests, which appear below from Ian's highest- to lowest-scoring interest. The top three Interests for the Performance Model are noted. Two-way and three-way ties are indicated if present.

This list of interests is obviously not exhaustive, and because interests are often something that can be satisfied outside of work, they make up only 20% of the candidate's overall job fit score (Thinking and Behavioral each make up 40% of the overall score). Still, a person's interests can sometimes provide insight into how easily motivated he or she will be concerning different tasks, and how much enjoyment he or she may find in a particular role.

IAN'S ORDER OF INTERESTS

- Ordered from his highest- to lowest-scoring interest
- Regional Sales Manager Performance Model Interests are indicated
- Ties are indicated if present

Financial/Admin

A Financial/Admin interest suggests the enjoyment of working with numbers and organizing sales-related information in order to make the selling process more efficient. It could also indicate an eye for detail and a desire for accuracy.

Mechanical

A Mechanical interest suggests the enjoyment of building and repairing things and working with machinery or tools. Salespeople with this interest may seek out sales activities that involve practical objectives and product utility.

Technical

A technical interest suggests the enjoyment of learning technical material, interpreting complex information, and solving abstract problems. Salespeople with this interest may enjoy promoting technical improvements and high-tech gadgetry.

Enterprising [PERFORMANCE MODEL INTEREST]

An Enterprising interest suggests the enjoyment of leadership, presenting ideas, and using persuasiveness. Salespeople with this interest may be motivated by competitive sales objectives and exercise initiative, ambition, and resourcefulness.

CRITICAL SALES PRACTICES

Ian Leach & Regional Sales Manager

This section is descriptive of eight sales practices, derived directly from the behavioral scales, and how Ian might demonstrate them (if relevant to the Regional Sales Manager role).

Prospecting

Strategizing, seeking out, and creating opportunities to engage with potential clients.

- More often than not, Ian is deliberate in his approach to identifying new leads.
- Ian may be somewhat careful in determining what qualifies as a solid lead.
- Ian may prefer to receive guidance on identifying new leads, but probably isn't afraid to make decisions on his own when the situation calls for it.
- Ian is likely more inclined to take his own approach to identifying new clients and may not always follow established policies in doing so.

Initiating Contact

Taking the necessary steps to make the initial introduction with a client.

- Ian is probably most comfortable with a steady approach and, so, he may reach out to new clients at a more systematic, deliberate pace.
- Ian may be inclined to take charge to get the win and achieve a goal, so he will probably show little reluctance in approaching prospects.
- While Ian typically avoids small talk, he may be able to step out of his box for the purpose of establishing contact with a new client.
- Ian may plan out how he will reach out to a new client rather than proceeding without considering his approach.

Building and Maintaining Relationships

Creating and establishing a connection with a client, which develops by attending to the client's needs.

- While Ian can carry on conversations with others, he is not highly outgoing and so may sometimes come across as a little distant with clients.
- Although Ian is fairly assertive, he's unlikely to come across as so forceful or opinionated that clients are turned off.
- When clients express their needs, Ian will probably do a good job at bending to meet those needs.
- Since he is inclined to be wary in new relationships until trust is built, Ian may, at times, have challenges establishing strong connections.

Closing the Sale

Transitioning from discussing a client's needs to completing the entire transaction.

- Because Ian has a lower sense of urgency, he may not always push to close a transaction sooner rather than later.
- From an interpersonal perspective, Ian is fairly assertive and he may show little reluctance in pushing a client toward a close.
- Because Ian is a bit more cautious than bold, he may want to make sure that he has covered all his bases before closing.
- Before trying to close a sale, Ian probably seeks confirmation that the client is ready, but may, at times, move forward without clear-cut evidence if he is feeling optimistic about the client.

Self-Starting

Taking the initiative to personally identify and undertake the required work to achieve results.

- Ian likely is very patient in getting things going, making sure to identify what is needed to complete the task.
- Ian will likely prefer to get the help and guidance of others before starting out on a new project, but, when necessary, can act independently in most cases.
- While more inclined to get things started as he sees fit, Ian can adhere to a predetermined plan when necessary.
- Ian can balance a willingness to take risks and a need to think things through methodically prior to making a decision to get things started.

Resourcefulness

Identifying and strategizing ways to maximize available resources in order to attain specific goals.

- While more inclined to wait for the support of others, Ian knows how to run with things on his own and seek out the best way to get something done.
- While somewhat individualistic in his thinking, Ian can adhere to established guidelines or think outside the box to determine the best way to get things done.
- Ian may be most attracted to tried-and-true methods, but may be open to more risky options when encouraged by others.
- Ian likely balances his own instincts with the available facts, making him quite efficient in completing tasks.

Coachability

A willingness to improve or adapt existing skills in order to excel or achieve peak performance.

- Ian may show some cynicism toward top-down mandates.
- While Ian can be independent at times, he values the opinions and support of others and may actively seek out guidance when stuck.
- Since Ian is typically amenable to others' opinions, he is likely inclined to listen to and accept advice.
- Because of his inclination to push for his own ideas, Ian may push back when others try to provide feedback.

Working with a Team

Working collectively and cooperatively to achieve a shared goal.

- Ian may routinely work at a slower, more methodical pace than many of his colleagues.
- It is possible that his skepticism could, in small ways, contribute to more cynicism on the team.
- Generally speaking, Ian will probably show a healthy mix of sticking by his opinions and bending to meet the needs of his teammates.
- While Ian occasionally appreciates working alone, he likely functions better with guidance and support from others.

INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Ian Leach & Regional Sales Manager

CHALLENGE AREAS FOR THIS JOB FIT

Below you will find what could be Ian's top challenge areas for this position. The selection is based on how Ian scored on the assessment compared to the specific requirements for Regional Sales Manager.

Pace

MORE STEADY THAN PERFORMANCE MODEL

He tends to be very patient and good with routine.

→ Listen for: how he uses different strategies for negotiating workload, due dates, and resources.

1. Tell me about a time when you had a lot of work and clients to manage and additional assignments just kept coming. How did you handle and balance the workload?
2. Describe the last time you worked on closing a sale that demanded a lot of initiative and self-motivation. What was challenging and what did you enjoy about this experience?

Decisiveness

MORE DELIBERATE THAN PERFORMANCE MODEL

He may prefer to deliberate and make informed decisions, but is also capable of timely responses.

→ Listen for: his ability to make decisions more quickly when circumstances warrant it.

3. Describe a time when you waited too long to make a decision. What were the consequences? What would you do differently?
4. Would you describe your decision-making style as bold or cautious? Give an example of when it would have been better to take the opposite approach.

Independence

MORE RELIANT THAN PERFORMANCE MODEL

He may seek support and is usually ready to accept direction.

→ Listen for: whether he seems uncomfortable or frustrated with undefined or unstructured assignments.

5. Tell me about a time when you had to make a decision or bend the rules to keep your work moving forward. What did you take away from the experience?
6. What type of information do you like to have before you begin working with a new client? What do you do if you feel you haven't received enough guidance from a sales manager?

AREAS OF STRENGTH FOR THIS JOB FIT

Next you will find what could be Ian's top areas of strength for this position. The selection is based on how Ian scored on the assessment compared to the specific requirements for Regional Sales Manager.

Verbal Skill

FITS PERFORMANCE MODEL

→ Listen for: how he connects with others who have different levels of verbal skills.

7. When working with clients, how do you decide when it's appropriate to use advanced, technical, or specific language instead of communicating more casually or simply?
8. What do you do to ensure that your written reports, emails, or others communications are correct, clear, and easy for your clients to understand?

Verbal Reasoning

FITS PERFORMANCE MODEL

→ Listen for: how he assesses and applies information for different settings, tasks, and clients.

9. Describe a situation in which you received information from a client or customer that seemed to be missing key elements. What did you do to fix the situation and make sure that you fully and correctly understood the message being conveyed?
10. Tell me about a time when you discovered there had been a miscommunication between you and a client or customer. How did you figure out there was a problem, and what did you do to resolve the issue?

Judgment

FITS PERFORMANCE MODEL

→ Listen for: his preference to use either facts or intuition when making decisions, depending on the circumstances.

11. Some people make decisions based on facts, while others use their intuition. When working with clients of different decision-making styles, what do you find to be the most constructive approach?
12. How would you make a decision if the facts pointed you toward one choice, but your instincts pointed you in the opposite direction?

QUESTIONS FOR REMAINING SCALES

You will find suggested interview questions for the remaining scales below.

Numerical Ability

FITS PERFORMANCE MODEL

→ Listen for: his comfort with numerical calculations, including using new methods of calculating data.

13. Describe a situation where you had to consider different types of numerical information. How did you ensure that you understood and correctly applied the most important aspects of the data?
14. When you are asked to use new mathematical processes at work, such as pricing or measurements, how long does it take for you to become comfortable with them?

Numeric Reasoning

FITS PERFORMANCE MODEL

He can efficiently base his decisions on numerical data.

→ Listen for: the complexity of numerical problem-solving techniques used and how readily he can explain the details of those techniques.

15. Describe a situation where there were changes to the way you had to work with or report data. What did you do to make the adjustment and to ensure accuracy?
16. Tell me about a time when you used numerical data to find a solution to a problem or convince others to change the way they were doing things.

Assertiveness

FITS PERFORMANCE MODEL

→ Listen for: how successfully he determines when to push forward and when to refrain from action.

17. Describe a recent experience where you had to be assertive with a client. How did you determine how much you needed to push to get what you needed?
18. When you work with a client who is highly forceful or demanding, what approach do you take to maintain an effective working relationship with this person?
