Your retirement Plan is provided to assist eligible employees in securing their financial future from benefits provided by a tax-deferred retirement Plan. The tax benefits of this arrangement are available to employer plans where applicable IRS and DOL regulations are followed. These requirements include a number of guidelines regarding the investments offered to participants and their beneficiaries. Your Plan is intended to meet the requirements of ERISA §404(c) and this Notice provides an explanation of procedures adopted by your Employer to ensure compliance with ERISA and Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations Section 2550.404c-1. By complying with this regulation, the Plan fiduciaries are relieved of liability or any loss resulting from the investment instruction given participants and beneficiaries of the Plan.

Choice of Investments. Plan participants to select from a broad range of investment alternatives that provide materially different levels of risk and return. The mutual funds offered under the Plan meet an established set of guidelines adopted by the Trustee. This allows you to create a diversified portfolio of funds suited to your individual financial objectives and acceptable risk levels. In choosing an investment you should consider these factors and evaluate the level of risk you are willing to assume. Plan investments are monitored for on-going suitability as well as quality and diversification of available options.

Participant Control of Investments. The Plan allows all participants to exercise full control of investments to their accounts. Through the Plan website, Instructions to invest, exchange or rebalance the monies in your account. The website provides an explanation of each fund, including the fees applied to the Plan and by each available fund offered. Fact sheets, prospectuses and summary information for each investment are updated periodically to assist with your fund choices.

Procedures for Entering Transactions to Your Retirement Account. You may access your account by following the instructions provided in the Plan Enrollment Guide. You may create a User ID and Password that can be used to access the system and enter instructions or transactions for your account. During normal business hours, you can also speak with a live service representative for assistance or questions relating to the Plan. Enrollment Guides are published annually and are available upon request. Contact information is provided below.

The Plan values your account on a daily basis. You may log on to the Plan website 24 hours a day and change the direction of future investments or exchange your investments from one fund to another. Trade instructions received after 4:00 p.m. will be executed on the following business day.

There may be times when you may not be able to enter transactions to your account; however, whenever possible, you will be notified in advance of any activity that would restrict access to the Plan.

Limitations on Transactions. Certain mutual funds prohibit multiple transactions to an account that are not consistent with the rules of trading or are in violation of the fund's prospectus. The Plan reserves the right to limit such trading practices and suspend availability of exchanges where these rules are violated.

Use of a Qualified Default Investment Alternative (QDIA). Your Plan Trustee has adopted a designated fund or group of funds as a QDIA. Specific information on the QDIA is attached to this Notice. If any participant or beneficiary fails to select an investment option for their retirement account, or fails to complete the investment selection process as outlined in the Plan Enrollment Guide the monies will be invested in the QDIA. Any monies applied under the QDIA policy may at any time, be transferred into any other fund option offered under the Plan by accessing the Plan website and entering the appropriate transaction instructions.

Plan Expenses. At any time, you may review the expenses applied to your account by accessing the Plan website or by contacting our Third-Party Administrator, PenServ Plan Services, Inc. and requesting a paper version of all prospectus or disclosure material applicable to your account. Requests for paper materials will be mailed to the address on record with the Employer.
