How to File a Medical Claim

Your employer has purchased major medical coverage with a high deductible. In addition, your employer is self-funding a portion of your health coverage in order to provide you with the same quality benefits at a cost-efficient price. Therefore, it's important to know how to process a claim with our office.

To file a medical claim:

- ✓ Show two cards when you visit your medical provider:
 1. Major medical coverage (i.e. Humana, Medical Mutual, United Healthcare, Anthem, etc.) identification card as "primary" coverage.
 2. ClaimLinx employer funded identification card as "secondary" coverage.

*Most providers file secondary coverage. If your doctor does not file secondary or if you receive information at your home, please send any of the following items in order to assist us in processing your claim:

- 1. Send major medical carrier Explanation of Benefits (EOB).
 - This document shows the discounted bill amount because of your major medical coverage. You usually receive this about one month after you have visited your provider (i.e. doctor, hospital, x-ray, laboratory).
- 2. Send any documentation from your provider that has diagnostic coding on it.
 - Diagnostic coding is what the provider uses to explain what condition you have, what service was performed, etc. You can ask for this when you leave the facility. In most cases, the facility will provide these documents when you leave the hospital and/or doctor's office.
- 3. Send information about your provider.
 - Especially important is the phone number. This can be written on your EOB or included on the Provider Information Form, which you should complete before or immediately following your effective date. This information is helpful if we do not have your medical provider in our system and need to obtain billing information.
- 4. Send invoices, NOT STATEMENTS.
 - Statements provide no value in filing a claim. Invoices provide us with detailed billing information, your account number, claimant name and diagnosis.
- 5. If you are Jr. or Sr., be sure your doctor has this information correct in his or her system and please indicate it on your EOB.

If you pay "up-front" for services and are requesting reimbursement:

- You must provide a copy of your receipt indicating that you paid for any services "up front". A receipt could be a credit card statement, receipt from doctor's office, pharmacy receipt, processed check front and back, etc.
- Services will not be reimbursed directly to you without this documentation.

What do I do?

Show TWO cards

- Primary insurance ID
- Secondary ClaimLinx ID

In the event the provider will not accept the secondary ID card:

1. Send:
 - ✓ EOBs
 - ✓ Invoices
 - ✓ Diagnostic coding
 - ✓ Info on your providers
2. Indicate Jr. or Sr. on your EOB if this is applicable.
3. Allow 10-30 business days for processing and payment from the day we receive your claim
4. Claims may be appealed through your plan administrator
5. Provide receipts if services were paid for up-front.

Understanding the Explanation of Benefits (EOB)

How do I read my Explanation of Benefits (EOB)?

Typically you will receive two EOBs:

1. Major medical carrier Explanation of Benefits
2. ClaimLinx Explanation of Benefits after your claim has been processed and/or paid

What do I do with the major medical EOB?

- You will receive an EOB from your major medical carrier about one month after going in for a medical service. You will need to send this EOB to ClaimLinx for processing. You can send it via fax or mail or you can submit it through the ClaimLinx private member portal.
- ClaimLinx may request additional information that is needed to process your claim at any time. This may include verification of your provider's address, telephone number, diagnostic service, billing summary, etc. These requests are required in order to process your claim properly through our system. Typically they are performed via a letter or by email.

What happens after my claim is processed?

You will receive another EOB from Claimlinx. This EOB is a summary of all charges and payable benefits remaining after the claim has been filed.

For example, on the generic EOB attached, the total claim is for $59. In this case, the health provider discounted the charge $5.56, reducing the amount owed to $53.44. The patient is only responsible for the co-pay of $20, which reduces the amount owed to $33.44. This is the total amount owed to the physician, and the amount the employer will send ClaimLinx, who will then submit to the provider.

$59.00	Total charges for services
- 5.56	Amount discounted by physician (only applicable in certain cases)
$53.44	Amount owed before claim is filed
- 20.00	Co-pay (amount patient is responsible for at time of visit)
$33.44	Payable Benefit – paid by employer through ClaimLinx

THINGS TO REMEMBER ABOUT THE EOB

- EOBs are required if your provider does not file secondary coverage.
- ClaimLinx does not receive EOBs directly from the major medical carrier.
- Do not throw away EOBs! This may be the only document you receive in order to file a claim.
- Send any medical documents you receive – we will sort it out at ClaimLinx. If we cannot use the document you send us, it is put in your medical file.
- Be sure to make a copy of the EOB for your records.
- The sooner ClaimLinx receives your EOB, the sooner the claim can be processed.
- Allow 30 business days (maximum 90 business days) for claims to be processed and paid from the date they are submitted.
- Claims should be submitted as they are incurred. Delays may occur if additional information is needed for processing.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is ClaimLinx?

Founded in 2004 by Christy A. Quigley, ClaimLinx is a Cincinnati, Ohio-based company operating as a health benefits consultant, insurance agency and third party administrator. Our owners have a combined experience of more than 40 years in the insurance industry. We coordinate the processing of claims for more than 4,000 members nationally, and our team is committed to providing its members with unprecedented service offered by no other in our industry.

Is ClaimLinx a secondary insurance provider?

No. ClaimLinx are a third party administrator for employer-sponsored plans. We service "you," the client, not the insurance company. Part of our expertise is in making sure each individual claim has been reviewed for the maximum payout allowed. In addition, we act as an educational resource for employees and their families so they may become better informed about the healthcare system.

How long does it take to process a claim?

Claims are processed within 30-90 business days from the date the claim is submitted. Claims can be submitted by fax or mail or member can submit them electronically through ClaimLinx's private member portal. For a complete look at claims process, please refer to the diagram "How a Claim is Processed" in this packet.

What is a deductible?

A deductible is a specific dollar amount that an individual must pay before reimbursement for expenses begins. The higher the deductible, the lower the cost of the health insurance plan.

What is a Medical Expense Reimbursement Plan (MERP)?

MERPs utilize a federal tax code that is more than 50 years old to allow employers to deduct medical reimbursement benefits. The employer purchases a high-deductible plan and self-funds the difference between the high deductible and employees' copays and/or coinsurance. The MERP requires slightly more administration for the employee, but we find this to be an important part of the education process all of our clients receive about the health insurance industry.

Why did my employer purchase a Medical Expense Reimbursement Plan (MERP)?

Your employer was shown the MERP because he or she is looking out for your best interests. He or she is examining ways to cut costs while still providing you with the same benefits. Many employers have told us they would not have been able to even provide the same health benefits without using the ClaimLinx Solution.

MERP plans are governed by the Employment Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) of 1974. If you have any questions about your plan, contact the plan administrator. If you have any questions about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the plan administrator, you can contact the nearest office of the Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. You may also obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration.
